BUILDINGS

Situated between the residential and business districts, the fine buildings of Frankfort High are conveniently located. Pictured here are the old stone High School Building and the Central Building. Through these portals and down these halls, thousands of students have passed during the last few decades. Many of our parents can recall happy hours spent in these class rooms.

Board of Education

SUPERINTENDENT

The Frankfort School system is fortunate in having such a man as Dr. Waldo Wood as superintendent. Dr. Wood is a schoolman of thorough education and with a broad outlook on cultural lines.

Mr. Wood returned as superintendent to the local school system where he taught mathematics and history several years ago. From "Who's Who in America," one finds that during this lapse of time he has taught in various other Indiana schools, written numerous books and articles, and has been president of Central Normal College at Danville.

SCHOOL BOARD

On the School Board, which, in co-operation with the superintendent, manages problems relative to the school city are Mr. Walter Aughe, president; Mr. Frederick Petty, secretary, and Mr. Clayton Cook, treasurer. Before this group come questions of importance in conducting school business.

ADMINISTRATION

A. E. CONDON

During the two years that Mr. A. E. Condon has been principal of F. H. S. there has occurred many additions and improvements in our school system. This year has seen the development of the cadet system of hall patrol to provide for efficient use of the halls, the delegating of more authority to the Student Council and the co-operation of the faculty in a movement toward the adoption of a more practical philosophy of education. To apply to the class room also during his administration, Mr. Condon has been interested in closer individual contact with students as a means of securing their better orientation.

Mr. Vance Curtis, personnel director of F. H. S., brings to his office the benefit of his experience in the personnel department of Camp Grant, Rockford, Illinois, and in various phases of school work in Frankfort, enriched through graduate study in the University of Wisconsin.

Mr. Warren, the assistant principal of F. H. S., instituted and developed the N. Y. A. work in this high school, over which he has complete supervision. He also has complete charge of the patrol boys.

THE OFFICE

Ranking in popularity with favorite after-school hang-outs and scenes of various pastimes, the office is the center of activity during the school hours. All is "hustle bustle" in an effort to keep up with the rapid pace of 'teen age wishes and desires—along with all the usual office tasks.

Busy as bees are the office aides, Genevieve Otterman and her assistant, Freda Mae Larsh. They serve as walking encyclopedias to answer the thousands of varied questions which pass over the counter. "Whose class is Mary Smith in this period?" "Do you know where the janitor of Central Building could be found?"—and so on until school is ended for the day.

Typing and mimeographing daily announcements, preparing final copy of tests for teachers, thoroughly checking attendance records, and keeping any and all other records in good shape are among a few of their other jobs. They have a complete record of your entire high school scholastic ratings, and in their files may be found enrollment cards with your class schedule for every day. Mr. Condon and Mr. Warren also have necessary duties for the girls to perform.

THE PERSONNEL OFFICE

From the personnel office are issued our weekly guidance lessons and help; to the office go students for conferences concerning jobs, college opportunities, courses and classes, excuses from school, I. Q. and personal ratings, and additional questions along this same line. Also, data is furnished on positions in various vocational fields. Job placement service is given for local positions, as well as state and out-of-state.

This office is for the welfare of the students, and Mr. Curtis is at all times willing to aid the pupils in any way which they desire—whether it be applying for scholarships for seniors or helping freshmen plan their programs.

DEAN OF GIRLS

Quite a task has been Dean of Girls—watching over all the girls of Frankfort High School, discussing with them their problems, and aiding them in any way possible. In her first year in this capacity Mrs. Oma Heaton has tried to advance the standards of all the girls and make of them all-round young ladies.

The office of Dean of Girls was created five years ago, and it has proved successful and a great help in carrying out the activities of the school.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Representing the entire student body, the Student Council has the task of settling numerous school problems and promoting leadership, scholarship, character, and service throughout student activities.

Divided into two groups—the prefect council and the advisory council—this organization has continued the cadet system this year. The prefect council consists of representatives from the various classes elected by the entire student body. Home-room and class presidents make up the advisory council, whose duty is, as is implied by its title, to make suggestions and advise the prefect council.

With President Bob Spray serving as judge, the council conducts trials for various offenses. Prosecutor is Bill Ferguson, and the defense attorney may be selected from the entire school. Phil Wise served as vice-president, Dick Spray was secretary-treasurer, and for the first time Mr. Hampton acted as sponsor.

"Have you got a pass?" This is a familiar question when passing through the halls during fourth and other periods. Cadets are stationed in the buildings to see that you do have a signed pass, and, if you don't, to issue to you a yellow slip.

Members of the faculty nominated candidates from which the present cadets were selected. These students are ones who are not too busy with extra-curricular activities and who are qualified to fill these positions. This is the second year for this type of hall supervision.

Yellow slips may be issued for running in the halls, wearing hats in the buildings, chewing gum and eating candy during school hours, loafing in the halls, and many other offenses. Three yellow slips require a trial before the Student Council. Mr. Hampton is in charge of the force.

HI-Y

A large majority of the outstanding sophomore, junior and senior boys may be found at Hi-Y meeting almost any Tuesday evening of the school year. With fifty members, this club is under the auspices of the state Y. M. C. A.

A happier Christmas for all underprivileged children is one of their objectives. For this purpose a Christmas exchange is held and all gifts are given to the Junior Red Cross to distribute at their party. Donations are also given to different charity organizations annually. Students who need financial aid are also furnished with clothing and books.

The club as a whole attends church services at various intervals at all churches with members represented in the club. Fathers are entertained at a Father and Son Banquet once a year. For the girls' sake they sponsor a sport dance sometime during the season. To carry on these activities they raise funds by selling candy in the halls after school and usually have the concession stand at the football games.

Joe Daywitt, president; John Maxson, vice-president; Richard See, secretary; and Bill Ferguson, treasurer, headed the organization. John Redmon serves as sponsor.

SUNSHINE SOCIETY

Nineteen forty-one marks the thirtieth year since the organization of the Frankfort chapter of the Sunshine Society. In 1901, Crawfordsville High School became interested in the work of the international Sunshine Society, and so founded this state organization. The Frankfort chapter was the third formed, Lebanon being the second. By 1920 there were twenty societies in Indiana. At the present there are one hundred and forty chapters in Indiana and one in Bridgeport, Illinois.

Miss Hattie Campbell has been the sponsor of the local group for eighteen years. At present there are two hundred twenty-five members in F. H. S. New members are added to the society each semester, the only requirement being that the girls have reached the ninth grade or beyond. The club raises money by selling candy at the basketball games and by sponsoring various programs. From this fund donations are made to various high school needs, community projects, Riley Hospital, Clinton County Sunshine Scholarship, Red Cross, infantile paralysis drive and other worthy causes.

The one social activity of the society is the annual Mothers' Tea held each April.

The officers are Donna Irwin, president; Ruth Conrad, vice-president; Juanita Posey, secretary; Eloise Volz, treasurer; and Phyllis Stroup, corresponding secretary.

FORUM

All girls barred! Evidently the boys of Forum Club enjoy privacy from feminine students, at least for their meetings. Over twenty years ago, due to the demand by the boys of F. H. S. for a club in which they could get training in debate, parliamentary procedure, and conduct round table discussions, the Forum Club was organized.

Being a small club—membership limited to twenty-six—it is not as well known as larger and more socially-minded ones. The group is run entirely by its members; officers and sponsor take the background. Not known for the number of dances it sponsors, but rather for its informal banquets and yearly picnic, the Forum remains a man's haven in the high school.

A semi-official motto of the membership committee is "It is hard to get in and easy to get out." Revision of the constitution was completed this year. Elections are held every semester, giving the members a better chance to choose the leaders they want. Those of 1941 were: Robert Shaver, president; Bill Baum, vice-president; Bill Ferguson, secretary; and Ed Lynch, treasurer. Jack Knoll served as vice-president and Robert Power as treasurer the first semester.

First Row—Charles Hackett, Bob Shaver, Bill Baum, Mr. James McMurtrey, Bill Ferguson, Eddie Lynch.

Third Row—Jack Knoll, Kenneth Owens, Bob Sullivan, Jake Ruch, Arthur Clossin, John Maxson.

FORENSIC CLUB

Having developed in status from that of a junior high club to a popular senior high organization in the last half decade, the Forensic Club continues to promote interest and give knowledge of parliamentary procedure under the sponsorship of Mr. Hampton.

Two school projects are sponsored by the group — the awarding of an Indiana Banner at the close of each semester to the highest ranking student in Indiana History, and the new Forensic Scholastic Award to students with the highest average in the eighth and ninth grades.

On February 7 the annual dinner-dance was held with music furnished by a local orchestra.

Helen Michael, president; Jake Ruch, vice-president; Barbara Sibbitt, secretary; and Juanita Posey, treasurer, served as officers for the year.

First Row — Barbara LaCroix, Barbara Sibbitt, Jake Ruch, Mr. Hampton, Helen Mae Michael, Juanita Posey, Martha Glover, Charles Hackett.

Second Row — Martha Major, Helen Kern, Ruth Conrad, Charles Clark, Byron Evans, Hal Rowe, Beatrice Lowe, Phyllis Nees, Lynette Garrison.

Homemakers in the making! The thirty-six members of the Home Economics Club have as their ideal the improvement of the high school girl and the promotion of interest in home economics in the student body. Their programs follow this idea.

This comparatively new club, formed by Miss Reid last year, is considering affiliation with the high school section of the American Home Economics Association and the state organization.

Open to girls in the home economic curriculum and other girls who have taken one year of home economics, the club annually holds a style show and a dance.

With Betty Purciful, president; Maxine Michael, vice-president; Eva Robison, secretary; Catherine Ruch, treasurer, the club has experienced a successful year.

First Row — Eva Wann, Eva Robison, Catherine Ruch, Miss Reid, Betty Purciful, Maxine Michael, Helen Gunion, Bonnie Bogan.

Second Row — Joan Harmon, Martha Fidler, Beverly Smith, Mary Huffer, Elizabeth Myers, Patricia Sharp, Mary Gregory, Eleanor Larimore, Wilma Roush.

Third Row — Julia Hemmerling, Bonnie Sherrill, Joyce McNutt, Phyllis Price, Frances Blacker, Mary Young, Maxine Cox, Hope Hening, Margaret McMahon.

The Junior Red Cross chapter of Frankfort High School was first organized in 1938 by Miss Helen Underwood. The club planned its program to carry out its chief objectives—friendship and service to others.

In rendering service to others, this organization each year gives a Christmas party for the underprivileged school children of Frankfort. Nearly three hundred boys and girls attend these parties and each of them receives toys, candy, and fruit.

Another service rendered to the underprivileged school children of Frankfort was the distribution of clothing donated to the club by local business men. The club was divided into four committees—one to take care of the need of each of the grade schools.

For promoting friendship, the club sponsors school projects as the Red Cross Penny Drive, and each year holds an annual banquet for the installation of new officers.

From the sixty members of the club, Alan Evans was elected president; Virginia McGrath, vice-president; Janet Fournier, treasurer; and Joan Maddux, secretary.

Alan Evans, Janet Fournier, and Bob Nelson represented this organization at the Red Cross Institute March 4, 5, 6 in Indianapolis.

First Row — Ruth Conrad, Janet Fournier, Alice Heimburger, Mary K. Huffer, Miss Underwood, Robert Nelson, Phyllis Shepard, Patricia Mahon, Catherine Scripture.

Second Row — John Combs, Robert Snider, Grethel Murphy, Lois Pope, Sue Manring, Doris Zipperian, Virginia Owens, Norma Farr, Anna Dame.

Third Row — Betty Stevenson, Alan Evans, Dale Ruse, Ted Spaulding, Helen Gunion, Bertha Young, Betty Lou Rice, Catherine Ruch, Beverly Smith, Mary Nelson.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

Since 1933 outstanding students in Frankfort High have been honored for their achievements by election into the National Honor Society. Either the girls are more numerous or harder workers, for since that date 108 girls and 74 boys have been selected for membership.

Instead of holding meetings during the activities period, the group convenes for a monthly luncheon in the cafeteria. Each spring an informal banquet and party is enjoyed by the members.

Because of their attainments in character, scholarship, leadership, and service, nominees are chosen by the entire faculty. Final election is made by a committee of teachers for that purpose.

Under the sponsorship of Miss Verda Knox, the club carried on its regular activities this year and chose Helen Michael, president; Dorothy Collins, vice-president; Berniece Carey, secretary; and Eloise Volz, treasurer.

First Row—Eloise Volz, Helen Mae Michael, Miss Verda Knox, Dorothy Collins, Berniece Carey.

Third Row—Kenneth Owens, Bob Shaver, Bill Klippe, Donna Irwin, Lynette Garrison, Martha Major.

F CLUB

"A real fighter never has breath enough to say, 'I quit,'" is the motto of the Frankfort High F Club. Only those boys who hold a major award in at least one of Frankfort's competitive sports are eligible for membership. Two outstanding events make up the main activities of the club. These are the annual Big Broadcast and the spring Blanket Hop. Head coaches, "Buck" Rohrbaugh and Everett Case, serve as the club's sponsors.

Officers of the club are: Charles Mark, president; Ted Hazelwood, vice-president; Rudy Witsman, secretary-treasurer; and Herbert Webb, sergeant-at-arms.

First Row—Ted Hazelwood, Charles Mark, Eddie Lynch.

Second Row—Mr. Case, Mr. Rohrbaugh, Charles Stine, Bob Ricker, Bill Lewis.

CHESS CLUB

Stepping into a meeting of the Chess Club, an outsider might think he was dreaming and had drifted back to the days of knighthood and chivalry. But, no, that's just part of the game.

To become a member of this club a prospective player must have the desire to learn and must be interested in the game. There are approximately twenty members—all boys; however, girls are not excluded. Upon being voted into the group a member is designated a "Pawn" and may rise from that rank to "Knight," "Bishop," "Castle," and "Queen," by proper requirements and victories over other players. "King" is the title conferred on the president. Citations meetings are held for the promotion of players from one rank to another.

This year a round-robin league was conducted, and the eight top ranking players advance to an elimination tourney to determine the champion and runner-up. Chess sets are the spoils of these victors. In future seasons the members hope to compete against other schools.

On the social calendar the club sponsored a sport dance. Officers were "King" Richard Spray; vice-president, Alan Evans; secretary-treasurer, Bob Pierce; with Mr. Manges as their sponsor.

First Row — Alan Evans, Richard Spray, Mr. Jackson Manges, Frank Beardsley, Bob Pierce.

Second Row—Robert Spray, Milton Blunk, James Clemans, Bob Gee, Byron Campbell, Chester Pitman.

Amid copy paper and printer's ink, THE HIGH LIFE staff works to prepare the next issue of Frankfort High School's student publication.

THE HIGH LIFE is published by the journalism class with Miss Virginia Smith as adviser. The work on the newspaper is done co-operatively. Each student does all types of work on the paper. One time he may be working on news or feature stories, another day he may be soliciting advertising or working on page make-up. In this way a student receives more diversified journalistic training.

This year THE HIGH LIFE holds membership in the Indiana High School Press Association, The National Quill and Scroll, and The National Scholastic Press Association. The staff is planning to attend the Medill conference to be held this spring at Northwestern University in Evanston, Illinois.

First Row — Miss Smith, Marybelle Kirby, Lynette Garrison, Bertha Young, Margaret Grafton.

MATH CLUB

Isosceles! Slide rule! Hypotenuse! To the members of Math Club these should be the simplest of terms. Remaining organized again this year, but still not being active, this group had a membership of about thirty-five mathematicians. Students with two years of math are eligible.

To develop interest in higher mathematics is the aim of this club, and to further this idea it presents annually an award to the senior having the highest scholastic rating in four years of mathematics.

President, Othel Becker; vice-president, Mary Mattix; secretary, Bill Baum; and treasurer, Bob Pierce, headed the club for the past year, with Miss Della Maud Sanders acting as sponsor.

First Row — Jean Shanklin, David Whitmore, Mary Mattix, Miss Sanders, Dick Spray, Robert Shaver, Robert Sullivan.

Second Row — Martha Glover, Helen Mae Michael, James Thompson, Jack Farling, Bob Power, George Edgar, Bob Pierce, Leo La Baw, Kenneth Owens.

Third Row — Pauline Doty, Robert Gee, Wayne Miller, Tom Major, Byron Campbell, Charles Hackett, Jack Landers, Bill Baum, Bill Ferguson.

CURIA LATINA

With programs to encourage wider interest in Roman culture and to give opportunity for individual initiative in participating in the monthly meetings, the Curia Latina carries on its activities as one of the oldest and largest clubs in Frankfort High School.

Its membership is drawn from all the Latin classes of the school. It also includes students who have completed the course and desire to remain affiliated with the organization. Mrs. Heaton serves in the advisory capacity.

Last spring the club joined the Forensic Club to journey for a day's visit to Turkey Run State Park. The annual Christmas party was held in the recreation room at yuletide.

First consul was John Maxson; second consul, Ruth Conrad; scriba, Pat Waddell; and quaestor, Joan Hackard.

First Row — Lynette Garrison, Pat Waddell, John Maxson, Mrs. Heaton, Ruth Conrad, Joan Hackard, Mary Mattix, Betty Stevenson, Julia Sloan.

A BAND

"Strike up the band!" The eighty-eight-piece Frankfort High School Band arouses spirit and enthusiasm for pep sessions, football and basketball games. It also participates in concerts and marches in a majority of town parades.

The local band is well known in music circles over the state and has won honors in numerous events during the last few years. It is a well-balanced organization and under the direction of Aubrey Thomas it has developed and advanced in technique and mastery of composition. To further its advancement, records have been taken of the band's music. After listening to these the members can more readily understand which parts require extra practice.

For the first time the band organized and adopted a set of rules and regulations. This charter system includes a nine-member board of controls to penalize offenders of the various rules. The set of regulations includes no smoking in uniform, appointment of a uniform committee to inspect uniforms, the taking of the roll at designated times with absentees or late comers referred to the board of controls, use of own horn at all times by the student, and other rules pertaining to attitude and attention.

Under this system officers chosen were Bob Talbert, president; Don Chandler, vice-president; Jerry Fulnecky, secretary; Robert Gee, treasurer; and Lynette Garrison, corresponding and publicity secretary.

The board of control consists of Kenneth Owens, Robert Spray, John Maxson, Jake Ruch, Maurice Huffer, Dean Hyman, Phyllis Maish, and Jack Longfellow.

A ORCHESTRA

The High School Orchestra of sixty-five members under the direction of Lester DeBard has had its usual school year of rehearsals and concerts.

Only the best in music has been read and analyzed and much stress has been laid upon intonation and phrasing. Much time has also been spent in the study and practice of sight-reading.

Several small string ensembles were organized and rehearsed outside of school hours in order to meet the public requirements for musical programs for civic affairs. The string trio and string quintet, particularly, have been kept busy filling engagements.

The mission of the Orchestra Department is to inculcate its students with appreciation of good music by a study of the classics; and to help them to become good citizens by teaching them to concentrate, to co-operate, and to be of service to others.

OPRETTE

With color, Spanish rhythm, and scenery carrying one below the border to Old Mexico, "False Fernando" was the annual operetta presented by the music department.

The scene was laid in a village in Mexico, and the action took place at the plaza during fiesta time. Fiesta time — with its popular songs and dances of Mexico, its colorful costuming and interesting stage effects, and its fascinating rhythm and melodies—added color and atmosphere to the presentation.

The plot was one of typical life and centered around Mexican señoritas. Most of the costumes and stage settings were souvenirs brought from Mexico by members of the faculty.

The cast was almost entirely girls, with the exception of one or two chorus numbers in which boys participated. Miss Inez Nixon directed the production, assisted by several members of the faculty.

STACCATO CLUB

Music fills the air! And music fills the hearts of the thirty-five fair members of the Staccato Club—its purpose being to promote music appreciation.

But the girls don't always think of classical composition, for in the spring they prove their social prestige with their annual formal dance, which is one of the important functions of the school year.

To be eligible for membership a girl must participate in at least one of the school's music classes. Programs consist of various types along the different musical lines, and each girl participates in some way or other. Officers this year were Barbara LaCroix, president; Norma Peters, vice-president; Beth Miller, secretary; and Ruth Conrad, treasurer. Miss Inez Nixon is the club sponsor.

Sitting—Martha Major, typist; Marilyn Schanbacher, business manager; Cleta Robison, typist; Harold Grove, typist; Bill Ferguson, editor-in-chief.

CAULDRON STAFF

To enable machinery to run smoothly and effectively every cog must be in place and working correctly; to publish a senior yearbook every staff member must do his own particular job promptly and efficiently.

The editorial staff plans the book—its mechanics, copies, and other features. Aiding them along this line are the photographers and artists who help with the illustrations. There could be no yearbook unless a sufficient number were sold to pay for its publication; to the sales staff falls this duty. Through the hands of the business force passes all money—payments for subscriptions and the paying of bills. Any necessary typing work must be completed by the typists. And, finally, to get the book across to the public, there is an advertising department.

Working together—what is the result? A yearbook depicting the school life of Frankfort High School and showing students in their various activities—both at work and play.

COLLECTORS

No money — no Cauldron, and no collectors — no money. Numerous seniors, and a few juniors, are selected by the business staff as aides in collecting money from those who have pledged to purchase the yearbook.

Each collector is designated one or two home rooms from which he solicits the weekly payments. During the week payments may be given to the home room secretary-treasurer, who in turn gives the money to the collector. Much care must be taken to see that all the books balance—those of the home room officer, the collector, and the business manager. One serves as a check upon the other.

If a student desires, he may pay the entire fee at one time. Arrangements are made for an installment plan of a small weekly sum for those who wish such.

SALESMEN

"Representing the senior class ____." Yes, you've guessed it — out-of-school Cauldron salesman contacting every business firm in the city. Through sales to citizens and businessmen, the class is able to finance the publication of the yearbook without soliciting advertising.

During the last semester of the school year one day is set aside on which senior couples are excused to work on this staff. Students are chosen for this campaign upon their merits along this line, and they are paired in a manner which seems most efficient for canvassing. No coke sipping—no cruising over the town and countryside with a carload of schoolmates—just plain, hard, sincere work. Fourteen couples aided with the task this year.

Any person outside of the school system who purchases a Cauldron is entitled to have his name printed on the patron's page which appears at the close of the book.

Frankfort High School's football participation of 1940 was on an intra-mural basis. The squad was divided into five different teams, and each taking a college team's name.

During practice season the boys spent the first three days of each week on football fundamentals and the last two days were used to put in practice these fundamentals in team scrimmage. Due to the fact that this season lured more boys to the practice field than ever before in Frankfort High School's football history, the coaching staff was able to get a fairly clear view of who will represent Frankfort High School in the years 1941, 1942, 1943.

JUNIORS

On Friday, October 4, an intramural football game was staged, for which the entire student body was excused from classes to attend.

A brief Americanism program was given before the teams went into action. The program began with the playing and singing of the "Star-Spangled Banner." Following this came the Pledge of Allegience of the student body. An Americanism talk was given by a representative of the American Legion, Mr. Earl Smith. The program ended with the students singing "God Bless America."

The teams took the names of Indiana and Purdue. Indiana beat Purdue by a wide margin of 19-0.

In October, before a student assembly, the football awards were presented by Coach Rohrbaugh and staff.

Twenty-two members of the varsity team received attractive gold statuettes. Reserve letters were given to nine boys and twelve freshman awards were given. Five members of the freshman squad received small gold footballs as a merit award. For their outstanding performances and football ability, the following boys received the special awards: Aughe Brothers' award will be presented to Charles Mark. The Fred Petty award of Leadership and Sportsmanship was presented to Ted Hazelwood. The Mental Attitude award was given Junior Hutchinson. The Greatest Improvement award was given to Bill Nunnally. The Football Plaque was presented to Charles Stine.

All the boys were thanked for their hard work and were commended for the fine spirit they displayed throughout the season.

BASKETBALL

Basketball, the elite sport of the state, is carried on throughout the academic years of Frankfort High School. Four distinct squads make up our basketball organization.

From the grade schools the future Hot Dogs climb into the eighth grade jerseys. With Matty Ronzone guiding them, the junior higher gradually learn more technique and new fundamentals.

With the scent of more basketball learning the boys, now freshmen, slip into the coaching hands of Buttercup Anderson.

Then Larry Farrell, coach of the B-team, takes the sophomores and juniors and puts the finishing touches on their fundamentals before the boys, who are now upper classmen, graduate into the Frankfort Fighting Five class with Everett Case acting as their coaching czar.

Finally the die is cast, and a complete Frankfort High basketball cycle is made.

VARSITY TEAM

Lacking in height, weight, and power, the Hot Dogs made up for these factors with cleverness and speed which carried them through their schedule with thirteen victories and nine defeats. The Casemen broke even with its natural rivals—Kokomo, Lebanon, and Lafayette. They downed Logansport both times. In January the boys went to the Big Four Tourney at Shelbyville, where they “copped” the title by defeating Columbus and Marion.

The squad was made up of Rudy Witsman, captain; Unroe, Stine, Hazelwood, Nunnally, Webb, Zobrist, Lewis, Oster, and Alvin Laughner. The netmen suffered two handicaps this season with Witsman's cracked shoulder and Laughner's broken leg.

Next year's varsity candidates will be Stine, Nunnally, Hazelwood, Zobrist, Lewis, Clossin, Oster, Doran, Norris, and Oyler. Two of the first five string will be missing next year.

The Casemen had a hard tourney schedule, and they had several unusually tough county teams to compete with. They defeated Rossville 29-22. For the tussle with Colfax, Howard Hall was packed with its largest crowd in tourney history, in which the Hot Dogs won 23-21. The most heart-breaking game of the tourney was their game with the Jackson Cardinals in which the Hot Dogs lost in a hard-fighting scrap with two overtimes to prove the fact.

B TEAM

By winning seventeen out of nineteen games this last season, the B-team boys set up a record of which they may justly be proud, and they leave a high mark for other teams to shoot at for years to come.

Through routine practice the boys learn the proper fundamentals and technique which go to make up another great fighting five for next year.

Captain Johnnie Clossin, clever little floor guard, was outstanding in ferreting out the opponent's weakness, while Oster, Ricker, and Lewis were very effective in scoring ability and filled in very capably on the varsity squad when needed.

Max Doran probably showed the most improvement and promises to be an outstanding player in the future. Oyler came along fast and has all the earmarks of becoming one of Frankfort's most aggressive offensive guards.

The goal sniping of Johnnie Norris, and the driving power of Hutchinson forbodes much trouble for future opponents of Frankfort High School.

The other boys progressed rapidly and will be battling for a berth next year.

With "Buttercup" Anderson calling the signals for fourteen weeks of practice, the freshman basketball squad closed their season with thirteen victories and seven losses.

Most of their schedule was composed of Big Ten teams like Kokomo, Anderson, Logansport, Jeff of Lafayette, and other teams.

The team elected Wallace Taylor for their captain. On offense, Mincemoyer, Douglas, Gosewehr, Whitmore, and Hays were outstanding. Outstanding on defense were Braden, Taylor, and Conner. The remainder of the team consisted of Mabbitt, Streets, Curveaux, Schenck, Myers, Rayles, Stephenson, and Max Pugh.

JUNIOR HIGH

Coach Matty Ronzone's junior high squad was one that any coach or school would be proud of. In twenty starts the eighth grade netters cleaned the slate with an exception of one team—Anderson (21-23).

In the coach's opinion, this team was one of the finest he has ever coached. The squad as a whole was rangy and always had a good attitude during practices—never complaining.

The team looks like a good prospect for future championship, thinks Ronzone.

TRACK

Frankfort High's track team started it's training during the early part of March. A week of blackboard instruction during the wet part of the month started the season's training grind.

Only five veteran lettermen returned from last year's squad. Those boys are Lewis and Ricker, long distant runners; Stine, who runs and hurdles; Hazelwood at shot put, and Mark at the crossbar. Several new boys made up the squad.

The first event of the season was the county track meet. The dual meets were with Jeff or Lafayette and Delphi. The cinder boys also met up with Delphi in the Delphi relays. For the Big Ten meet, the boys journeyed to Muncie. Purdue was the site for the sectional meet.

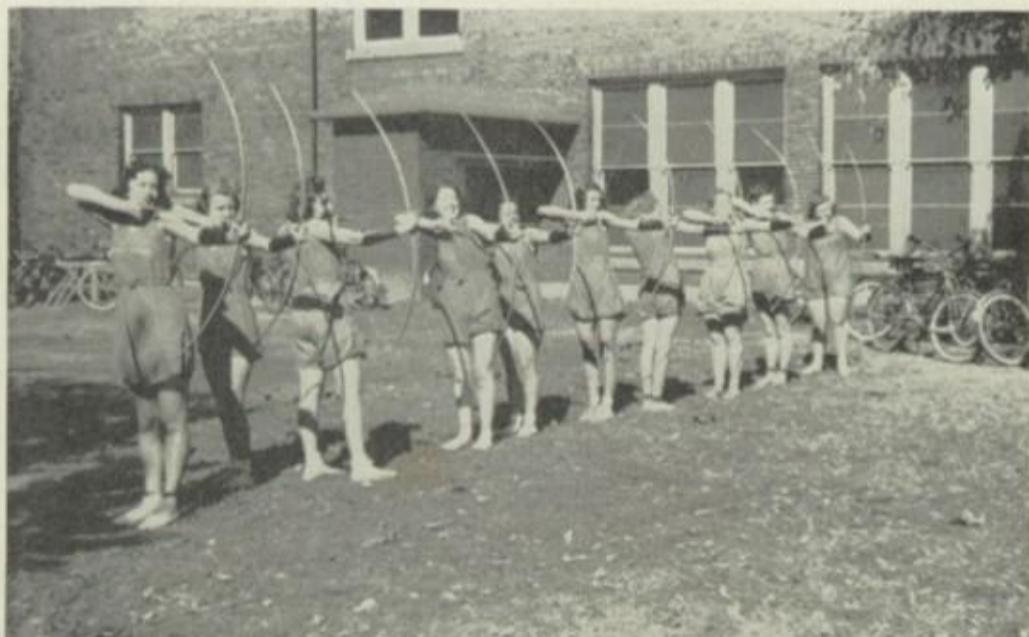

The biggest event of the track season was the Central Indiana Track Conference, which was held at Case Field, with a relay queen and a guest star.

Continuous daily practices, directed under the coaching heads of Buttercup Anderson and Matty Ronzone, aided the boys in making the completion of the schedule more successful.

GIRLS' ATHLETICS

ARCHERY

Referring back to the days of old—in fact, back to the Mother Country, England — you can find one of the favorites of modern girls' physical education—archery.

Well equipped for this sport, the girls' physical ed department teaches archery both in gym classes and G. A. A. It is one of the less strenuous types of exercise which develops skill in marksmanship.

During the winter period when the chilly winds and snow prevent outdoor sports, volleyball is the main form of exercise for the girls.

As tourney time nears, much spirit and enthusiasm is aroused, and competition is great. It is always a battle to the finish, and due to fingernails, many a girl comes out with a few minor scratches. But, they like it!

BADMINTON

Increasing rapidly in popularity, badminton has become one of the foremost sports in schools, colleges, organizations, and at home. It is adaptable for the participation of both old and young.

Such an interest has been taken in this sport in gym classes that it has been extended for girls who wish to play after school.

GIRLS' ATHLETICS

G. A. A. EXECUTIVE COUNCIL

The Executive Council of the G. A. A. is composed of presiding officers and the chairman of the respective committees.

The above members meet, discuss, and bring up business that is to be brought up at the regular meetings. The council also takes matters up that, as a whole, the club is too large to handle.

This is the first year for the Executive Council, and by next year it will be in "full swing."

THE GIRLS' ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

whose membership is feminine. Any girl in high school is eligible for membership as long as she abides by the rules and works for the betterment of herself as an individual. The girls meet in club activities after school.

The club's two annual social activities for the year were a supper for the girls and a dance.

The girls chose as presiding officers of 1940-41: Mary Ellen Ashley, president; Jeanette Elliott, vice-president; Alice Heimburger, treasurer; and Mary Childress, secretary. Margaret Grafton kept the F. H. S. students well posted through her High Life reporting of the G. A. A. hours spent in sports.

Miss Foster acts as sponsor for the club.
